It's going to be hard for Jeremy Corbyn... especially after he sees me like this!

No. 10 OR BUST? Corbyn and Mrs May are in a fight

By COLIN HURST news@sundaysport.co.uk

JEREMY Corbyn insisted yesterday he can be the next Prime Minister – but the signs are Theresa May's decision to call a snap election will prove the final nail in Labour's coffin.

Some bookies even expect Tim Farron's LibDems to outperform Labour in the June 8 showdown, pushing Corbyn and his cronies into third place in British politics for the first time in 100 years.

Mrs May called the snap general election after claiming that divisions at Westminster risked hampering the Brexit negotiations.

The Prime Minister will require the support of two-thirds of MPs to go to the country, with a vote scheduled in the Commons today.

Fragile

The move stunned Westminster, as Mrs May and Number 10 have repeatedly insisted she would not seek a general election before the scheduled 2020 poll.

But Mrs May, who has a fragile working majority of just 17 in the Commons, said she wanted "unity" at Westminster as talks on Brexit begin in earnest with the European Union.

She said: "We want a deep and special partnership between a strong and successful European Union and a United Kingdom that is free to chart its own way in the world.

"That means we will regain control of our own money, our own laws and our own borders and we will be free to strike trade deals with old friends and new partners all around the world.

"This is the right approach and it is in the national interest. But the other political parties oppose it.

"At this moment of enormous national significance, there should be unity here in Westminster, but instead there is division.

"The country is coming together, but Westminster is not."

The PM acknowledged that she needed a stronger position in the Commons to secure her plans for the UK's future outside the EU.

"Our opponents believe that because the Government's majority is so small our resolve will weaken and that they can force us to change. They are wrong," she said.

"They underestimate our determination to get the job done and I am not prepared to let them endanger the security of millions of working people across the country, because what they are doing jeopardises the work we must do to prepare for Brexit at home and it weakens the Government's negotiating position in Europe.

"I have only recently and reluctantly come to this conclusion."

Labour is expected to support her, as opposing an opportunity to take office via an election would look weak.

Sturgeon: It's a huge political miscalculation

THE Prime Minister's plans for a shock general election could be a "huge political miscalculation", Nicola Sturgeon has warned, as the surprise ballot gives Scots a further chance to reject the "narrow, divisive" policies of the Tories.

The First Minister dubbed Theresa May's announcement of a poll on June 8 as "one of the most extraordinary U-turns in recent political history".

The UK vote to leave the European Union – a position not supported in Scotland – sparked a showdown between Mrs May and the SNP leader over a second Scottish independence referendum.

Ms Sturgeon said the PM "is clearly betting that the Tories can win a bigger majority in England given the utter disarray in the Labour Party".

She added: "That makes it all the more important that Scotland is protected from a Tory Party which now sees the chance of grabbing control of government for many years to come and moving the UK further to the right – forcing through a hard Brexit and imposing deeper cuts in the process."

LINSEY'S VERDICT

GLAMOUR legend Linsey Dawn McKenzie reckons Theresa May is taking a risk calling an election – but with Jeremy Corbyn in the opposite corner should GET AWAY with it.

Lovely Linsey says it will be hard for the Labour leader to claw back the massive lead the Prime Minister's Tories have in the polls – and we think he'll find it even harder when he catches a glimpse of our sexy columnist in this amazing topless pose!

The 34DD stunna, who lives in Horsham, West Sussex, said: "I think Theresa May is playing a bit of a risky game calling for another election.

"But with the way the polls are at the moment, I can't see people turning against her. And to be honest, I can't see Jeremy Corbyn taking her job!"

The glamour girl added: "Her statement yesterday proved how dedicated she is to giving the people what they want with Brexit – although I do think it's a bit of a waste of taxpayers' money!

"I was one of the majority who voted to leave the European Union and I want to see that happen and for people to stop trying to overturn the decision.

"What she said in her speech was spot on. We need to be going into negotiations with Europe as a strong and united country, not bickering amongst ourselves."

LIB DEMS: LET'S CHANGE DIRECTION

THE election is Britain's chance to avoid a "disastrous hard Brexit", the Liberal Democrats have said.

Party leader Tim Farron (left) told voters "this is your chance to change the direction of your country".

The Lib Dems have consistently called for a second referendum on the final Brexit deal Mrs May achieves after negotiations with the EU, and want to keep the UK in the European single market.

The Tories' 2015 general election victory saw the party gain several formerly Lib Dem seats in the south-west of England.

Mr Farron said: "This election is your chance to change the direction of our country.

"If you want to avoid a disastrous hard Brexit. If you want to keep Britain in the single market. If you want a Britain that's open, tolerant and united, this is your chance.

"Only the Liberal Democrats can prevent a Conservative majority."

Green Party co-leader Caroline Lucas promised her party would be "... open to the world and the protection of our precious environment."

CRAP DANCER: Holly says she'd be as bad as Ed Balls (above)

SIZZLING telly presenter Holly Willoughby has insisted she won't ever appear on BBC's Strictly Come Dancing... because she's RUBBISH!

The 36-year-old stunna said she'd be more like Ed Balls, 50, on the hit dance show rather than her pal Abbey Clancy, 31, who clinched the trophy in 2013.

By BECCA STUBBS
becca@sundaysport.co.uk

And although Holly admitted she would love to learn to do the salsa and the jive, she said she would never do it on the small screen.

She said: "I couldn't do Strictly… Oh god, no.

"I'd love to learn to dance, but I wouldn't want to do it on telly.

Comedy

"Everyone would be watching me do it – and that would be horrendous because I'm not very good at dancing."

And Holly, who hosts ITV's This Morning alongside buddy Phillip Schofield, added: "I'd probably be as bad as Ed Balls. I'd be more Ed Balls than Abbey Clancy, put it that way."

Despite Ed being one of the worst dancers on the show, the former Labour MP managed to win over the watching nation with his comedy routines.

Abbey Clancy, wife of Stoke City striker Peter Crouch, lifted the Glitterball trophy in 2013 with her partner, 27-year-old Slovenian Aljaz Skorjanec.

Ex-Rangers owner charged with fraud

FORMER Rangers Football Club owner Craig Whyte is expected to go on trial later this week over his acquisition of the club.

The 46-year-old faces two charges relating to the 2011 purchase, one of fraud and another under the Companies Act.

He has pleaded not guilty to both allegations.

A scheduled start date for the trial at the High Court in Glasgow was pushed back on Tuesday, with preparations taking place at the court.

Whyte (above) bought the controlling interest in Rangers Football Club Plc from its then majority shareholder David Murray in May 2011.

He put the company into administration in February 2012 and then liquidation in July 2012.

WESTMINSTER ATTACK SURVIVOR'S HORROR

I was thrown into the air like a rag doll

ROYAL VISIT: Injured Travis had Prince Charles by hospital bed

By COLIN HURST news@sundaysport.co.uk

A POLITICS student injured in the Westminster terror attack has described how he was thrown over the bonnet of Khalid Masood's car "like a rag doll" as he was run down.

Travis Frain, 19, had been visiting Parliament with university friends and was walking across Westminster Bridge when he was mowed down by the terrorist's 4x4 on March 22.

He told ITV's Good Morning Britain he was texting on his mobile phone when one of his friends shouted to him – and he saw Masood's car five metres in front of him.

Force

He said: "I looked up and you don't have enough time to react. My body didn't have time to tense up and was thrown almost like a rag doll over the bonnet.

"I landed on the left side and my head was actually cushioned by a friend.

"Obviously, if it had landed on the concrete with the same force that the rest of my body had, we don't know what could have happened."

The teenager, who is studying politics and history at university in Lancashire, walked around in a "blur" immediately after the incident, calling his mother from the bridge to tell her was okay.

He broke his leg, left arm and two fingers, and suffered cuts to his thigh in the attack.

He was visited by the Prince of Wales while he was recovering at King's College Hospital.

Travis, who wants to become an MP, has been back to Westminster Bridge twice since and won't be deterred from visiting the capital.

He told GMB: "I wanted to see it again. It's not going to put me off London.

"As weird as it is, life goes on."

Broadchurch audience hits record high

HIT telly drama Broadchurch ended on a record high as its last ever episode scored its biggest audience ever.

An average of 8.7million viewers tuned in to watch the shocking finale involving Julie Hesmondhalgh (above), who plays Trish Winterman.

Trish's rapist was revealed to be 16-year-old Michael Lucas, played by Deon Lee-Williams.

The average audience share for the ITV drama was 36 per cent and the episode peaked at 9.3m viewers.

Monday night's instalment, the eighth in the nail-biting series, has now become the most-watched Broadchurch episode ever, beating the previous high of 8.6m for the last episode of series one in 2013.

Not only was the conclusion a ratings success, but the entire third series of the David Tennant and Olivia Colman-fronted drama has also been named the most successful of all.

Footballer beat man with stool

A NON-league footballer who chased a man out of a bookies and beat him to the ground with a stool has been jailed.

Former Romford FC striker Joel Palmer, 29, smashed Mohammad Gul over the head with the chair, causing him serious facial fractures and hospitalising him.

He chased Mr Gul out of the Ladbrokes in Clements Road, Ilford, east London, on June 15 last year, Snaresbrook Crown Court heard.

The footballer denied causing grievous bodily harm, but was convicted by a jury.

Judge John Lafferty said: "There was clearly a row…you lost your temper and you pursued him with a stool in the spur of the moment…you struck him to the ground."

Palmer, of Manor Park, was sentenced to 21 months in jail for GBH.

BIG HIT: Kylie is said to be sweet on Prince Andrew

SHOCK GREETS NEWS OF KYLIE ROMANCE WITH TUBBY PRINCE ANDY

By BECCA STUBBS
becca@sundaysport.co.uk

AUSSIE pop babe Kylie Minogue is reportedly healing her broken heart by dating Duke of York Prince Andrew.

The shock claims come just two months after her relationship with fiancé Joshua Sasse, 29, ended.

Reports suggest the babe has been "quietly dating" the royal for several weeks, but neither party has confirmed it. A palace source claimed: "At the moment they're inseparable – Andrew is 100 per cent smitten.

"Kylie is someone Her Majesty would welcome into the royal family.

Hoping

"Everyone's hoping this romance goes the distance."

An Australian mag broke the news and claimed the prince, 57, contacted 48-year-old hitmaker Kylie after her relationship ended in February.

Andrew will hope he's got lucky with Kylie, who's been snapped topless.

He's dated boobs-out babes before, including actresses Koo Stark, Vicki Hodge and fiery redhead Angie Everhart.

He was also rumoured to have a fling with stunning model Lisa Barbusica.

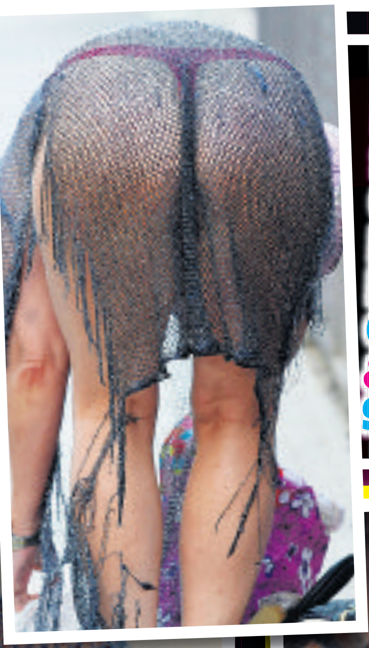
Lisa 's net hiding much!



WANNABE reality star Lisa Appleton took a stroll in a very revealing net dress whilst on an Easter break.

The beauty appeared on Big Brother in 2008 but is keen to resurrect her flailing TV career.

Lisa, 48, is often pictured flashing the flesh and her sun-soaked break in Spain was no different as she stepped out in a glittery black see-through netted dress with just a pink thong underneath leaving her boobs exposed.

Busty brunette Lisa is hotly-tipped to re-enter the Big Brother house later this year, while her 26-year-old daughter, Sophia-Maria, is said to be looking for romance in ITV2's Love Island.

Kate's boobs sync battle!

STUNNING model Kate Upton swapped her swimsuit for a college girl uniform during a saucy performance on Lip Sync Battle.

The Sports Illustrated babe will battle it out on the hit U.S. show this week against Ricky Martin but it looks set to be a scorcher.

Kate, 24, will be performing Britney Spears' 1998 debut single Baby One More Time in a sexed-up St Trinian's outfit.

Her plunging white shirt shows her famously-impressive cleavage and her extremely short skirt leaves little to the imagination.

Carmen looks Electra-fying!

BLONDE bombshell Carmen Electra hasn't aged a day as she showed off her jaw-dropping figure in this revealing crocheted frock.

And it seems as though the 44-year-old model's taste in men hasn't changed much either as she was spotted attending a Coachella event with former flame Tommy Lee.

Baywatch babe Carmen looked incredible as she flaunted her assets in the see-through black dress.

This is the second time the pair – who first dated back in 1999, before Tommy wed with Pamela Anderson – have been seen together in recent weeks sparking speculation they may have rekindled their romance.

JESS & BECCA

ACTRESS Bai Ling might be 50, but that doesn't mean she's planning to stop flashing the flesh.

The screen scorcher, who has starred in films including Red Corner and The Crow, put on a busty display as her nipples escaped from her bralet top while posing for the cameras.

Bai's sexy outfit choice couldn't contain her assets which burst out of the strappy top leaving both nips exposed.

Geordie Abbie's such a hot babe

SHE might have only just joined the cast of Geordie Shore, but Abbie Holborn looked every inch the reality star as she posed in a skimpy bikini on holiday.

The Newcastle lass beat off the competition to bag herself a permanent spot on the MTV series – and after seeing these snaps we're not surprised the Geordie lads wanted to keep her around.

Abbie, 19, showed off her boosted knockers and her famous mahogany tan as she soaked up the sun in Marbella.

The brunette babe made her debut on the booze-fuelled reality series last month when boss Anna invited a horde of new housemates to try out to become part of the family.

And so far Abbie is the only new cast member to have been confirmed as returning for the next series.

SEXY Kayleigh Morris has explosively claimed her ex-boyfriend's relationship with Chloe Khan was FAKE.

The reality babe appeared on MTV show Ex On The Beach with her former lover Ashley Cain, 26, but Kayleigh reckons his fling with 25-year-old Chloe was all a show.

Despite never confirming it, Chloe and Ashley seemed to be engaged during their 2016 romance with Chloe sporting a huge diamond ring on her finger, but Kayleigh, 28, isn't having any of it.

She said: "Their relationship was totally fake. He stayed at mine the night before he met her on the Tom Zanetti video and was slating her. He said 'Oh she's a skank' and disgusting. The next I knew they were together."

The only way is Marnie!

SHE GETS HER OWN TV SHOW

GEORDIE Shore* stunna Marnie Simpson is getting her very own spin-off show.

The reality star shot to fame when she joined the cast of the boozy MTV series in 2013 and has also taken part in Celebrity Big Brother.

And now she looks set to be the focus of a brand new reality series about her life.

Marnie, 25, hinted at the news in her magazine column this week when she discussed Kylie Jenner's spin-off series from Keeping Up With The Kardashians.

The South Shields babe (right) said: "It's amazing news that Kylie Jenner has her own spin-off show. I'll be tuning in!

Jealous

"I bet Kim is jealous as she's never had her own show. I reckon Kylie will be bigger than Kim ever was.

"I'd love my own reality show. It would make situations like the argument with Lewis easier, because people could see what really happened."

But inside sources have now revealed that her dream might soon become a reality as the brunette beauty is in talks to star in her own show.

A source told us: "Marnie is a really popular member of the Geordie Shore cast and the show's bosses want to cash in on that.

"She has seen how well people like Charlotte Crosby have done after the show, especially now she's presenting her own show Just Tattoo Of Us, so she wants a piece of the action too."

PRINCE William followed the lead of his brother this week by opening up about mental health.

The heir to the throne video chatted with quirky pop star Lady Gaga, who looked a far cry from her usual wild self in a demure floral blouse.

Gaga – real name Stefani Germanotta – usually isn't shy about flashing the flesh.

But she kept her norks under wraps for her Skype chat with Wills, 34.

The prince might have been expecting the pop babe to be a bit more revealing... after all, she's known for her outrageous outfits.

So to make sure he doesn't miss out, we've brought him a selection of the chart babe's HOTTEST pics . . . a right royal collection of her bustiest shots for him to cut out and keep.

Man on murder rap over Good Friday stabbing

A MAN has been charged with the murder of an 18-year-old in a Good Friday stabbing.

Nathan Towsey, 20, was charged with the killing of Matthew Rothery on Monday evening, after being arrested the previous day.

Mr Rothery (above), whose family released a photograph of the young man at the weekend, was found stabbed at a property in Woodborough Road, Nottingham, just before 1am on Friday.

He was taken to the city's Queens Medical Centre but was pronounced dead shortly after arrival.

Nottinghamshire Police said they believed the attack was an isolated incident and the parties involved were known to each other.

Local Towsey has also been charged with possession of an offensive weapon and is due to appear before Nottingham JPs later.

A DRIVER found guilty of threatening and abusing BBC presenter Jeremy Vine as he was cycling has had her appeal against the conviction dismissed.

The confrontation between Shanique Syrena Pearson, 22, and the broadcaster (above) in London last summer was captured on his helmet camera and has been viewed online by millions.

Pearson, 22, of Vauxhall, south London, threatened to knock out the journalist and screamed insults at him as he cycled home from work.

Vine said he felt afraid during the altercation.

Giving evidence at Isleworth Crown Court during the appeal hearing he said: "I felt threatened. I felt I was in danger."

SCENE OF SECRET SEX: Hospital where Bamsey romped with Patient X

NHS WORKER'S SEX WITH PATIENT IN OPERATING THEATRE

By COLIN HURST
news@sundaysport.co.uk

A HOSPITAL worker who had sex with a patient in an operating theatre has been thrown out of the profession.

Neil Bamsey gave the single mum his mobile phone number while pushing her around on a hospital trolley after she'd had an X-ray.

Former soldier Bamsey then sent her text messages and they met for coffee the next day in the cafe at the Good Hope Hospital in Sutton Coldfield, West Mids.

CCTV footage caught them cavorting in an abandoned theatre suite on September 13, 2013.

A Health Care and Professions Council panel found allegations against him – including the 17-minute romp with Patient X – proved.

He was also stuck off for engaging in oral and full sex with her on another occasion, and pressuring her to lie when questioned about their relationship.

The sex sessions came to light after the woman told her community mental health worker about their steamy meeting, who then relayed the story to Bamsey's colleagues.

The operating room practitioner bombarded the 48-year-old woman with calls and texts before meeting her at a pub to allegedly coach her on what to say if questioned.

After the meeting, the pair had oral sex in his car then romped in a field. The woman was described as vulnerable.

Exposed

Bamsey tried to conceal the relationship by deleting the texts he sent to her, but they were later recovered from his phone.

Elisabeth Acker, for the HCPC, said Patient X wrote a letter to withdraw allegations against Bamsey in December 2013 after he pressurised her to cover up their sex sessions.

Bamsey admitted giving the woman his work phone number and texting her, but claimed it was only to tell her to stop contacting him.

But Ms Acker said that CCTV footage, phone records and his hospital swipe card history exposed his story as false.

Bamsey denied having sex with Patient X and pressurising her into changing her story.

He was struck off.

Bed wetters out for Paul

TV presenter Paul O'Grady SLAMMED reality stars and insisted none of them will make an appearance on Blind Date.

Paul, 61, was recently announced to front the newly revamped dating show, which was originally hosted by his best pal, Cilla Black.

He said: "I was terrified they were going to give it to some reality person to host, and it would be shunted to a late-night slot in between programmes called Dogs On The Dole and My Left Breast.

"I told Channel 5 I don't want any guests who've been on telly before, and none of that bloody Essex lot having it off under the sheets with a night-cam.

"What are you famous for? Wetting the bed? There's too much of that crap on telly now."

Adriana looks sucking great!

SUPERMODEL Adriana Lima treated fans to a little late Easter surprise as she stripped bare in a steamy shower.

Victoria's Secret beauty Adriana jumped into the shower and left her white two-piece soaked see-through.

A grinning Adriana then yanked the boob tube over her head and ran her hands through her hair in the LOVE magazine video.

The 35-year-old Brazilian then licked and nibbled erotically on a chocolate Easter bunny before the camera panned down to show off her incredible figure.

Stunning Adriana was named 'the most valuable Victoria's Secret Angel' in January 2017 after a research which studied her career as a model.

Her X-rated display will have seen her popularity soar as the sexy shower left everyone a little overheated.

Gord swears his show's a bleeping hit

FOUL-MOUTHED British chef Gordon Ramsay says his brand new show should be renamed Morse Code because he swears so much.

The 50-year-old has a new ITV show called Culinary Genius – but he reckons it should have been renamed to help explain away the amount of bleeps needed to cover his swearing.

Known for turning the airwaves blue with his expletive-laden rants, Gordon joked that he wasn't suitable for daytime telly and would have to rein it in a little.

He said: "Nobody told me it was daytime. I've never done that before.

"They're going to have to call it Morse Code. Bleep bleep bleep."

ITV's latest cookery show will see nine amateur cooks doing battle in the kitchen, with a different professional chef in charge each week.

Gordon (above) will appear in the first episode and will demonstrate two of the tasks the contestants will take part in, as well as having an important role in judging the rounds.

KILLER SHARK BITES OFF GIRL SURFER'S LEG

She dies as dad battles to save her

By COLIN HURST
news@sundaysport.co.uk

THE father of a teenage surfer mauled to death by a shark tried desperately to save her by using a surfboard leash to try to stem the bleeding.

Laeticia Brouwer, 17, died after her left leg was bitten off at the hip by a shark as she surfed with her father Leon, near Esperance, Western Australia, on Monday afternoon.

Her father battled to save Laeticia (left) and dragged her ashore, where he, the teenager's mother and an off-duty nurse performed CPR until medics arrived, but she passed away in hospital a short time later.

Fisheries officers returned to the scene of the tragedy early on Tuesday morning.

They are now on the hunt for the killer beast, which they believe to be a great white shark.

The Department of Fisheries spokesman Russell Adams said: "Since 2000 all fatal attacks in WA have been caused by great whites, so you could assume safely it was a great white."

However he added they couldn't be certain, as images of the board following the attack couldn't prove what species of shark it was.

There have been 15 fatal shark attacks in Western Australia in the past 17 years.

When burnt toast shut Tube station

STAFF burning toast, a lost home brewing kit and a suspected GRENADE were among the reasons for 1,000 Tube station closures in London's West End over the past three years, new figures show.

Data obtained by London Assembly Conservatives revealed that staff at Victoria, Oxford Circus, Sloane Square and Wood Lane caused closures by setting off the fire alarm after burning their toast.

One worker at Edgware Road caused an evacuation by smoking an e-cigarette in the staff room.

A security alert was sparked at Sloane Square by a suspicious device that turned out to be a home brewing kit.

And South Kensington was closed because of a suspected hand grenade.

Excluding safety and security incidents, non-emergency closures at Tube stations in Westminster, Kensington, Chelsea, Hammersmith and Fulham totalled 222 days in the three years to February 2017.

24 dead in bus ravine plunge

AT least 24 people were killed when the brakes on their bus apparently failed and it plunged into a deep ravine in a mountain town in the northern Philippines.

The crash was one of the country's deadliest vehicle accidents in years, officials said.

The rest of the estimated 45 passengers were plucked to safety by rescuers who struggled with ropes to descend the ravine to reach the bus wreckage in Nueva Ecija province's Carranglan town.

Many were seriously injured and were taken to hospital.

Carranglan police chief Robert de Guzman said the bus, from northern Isabela province, was on its way to Ilocos Sur, a tobacco-and rice-growing region in the country's mountainous north when it crashed.

Bid to Spice up ITV soap...

CORRIE HIT BY ZOMBIE DRUG!

(Could explain some of the acting!)

CORONATION Street's latest plot will see one of its characters hooked on SPICE.

The ITV soap has penned a storyline based around the so-called zombie drug, which has been making headlines recently.

Dangerous

Sally Metcalfe's troubled younger sister Gina Seddon will return to Weatherfield for the first time in decades after her daughter gets caught up in Sally's stalking nightmare.

By JESS GALLEY
jess@sundaysport.co.uk

But it won't be plain sailing for Gina as she becomes addicted to the dangerous former legal high which leaves its users like 'zombies'.

Scenes from filming show Gina, played by Connie Hyde, looking dishevelled as she slumps against a tree in a local park.

Tackling

Shocking footage and images of people using the cannabis-like drug have been all over the press recently showing the dangerous effects of the synthetic drug.

And viewers have praised the show for tackling issues which have affected so many people – particularly in Manchester where the show is filmed.

One wrote on Twitter: "Powerful stuff, good on Corrie for tackling serious issues that are affecting so many people."

Another said: "I'm really excited to see how the Spice storyline comes out on Coronation Street!

"Tackling a proper Manchester crisis."

Gina was last seen on the cobbles in 1989 when she left without saying goodbye to Sally and Kevin, before getting married to a long-distance lorry driver called Colin and moving to Newcastle.

Viewers can see Gina's return to the Street on Friday night's episode of Corrie at 7.30pm on ITV.

Amber and pal are a bit flash!!

BUSTY beauty Amber Rose and her bosom buddy turned heads at Coachella in their barely-there outfits.

Amber, 33, wore tiny denim hotapants with a plunging red vest top and a pair of nude fishnet tights.

However, it was her unknown friend who stole the potlight in just a black netted dress which left her nipples completely exposed.

Flirting

The duo paraded around the Californian music festival, which attracts hundreds of celebrities every year, and wowed fans with their daring outfits,

Blonde bombshell Amber was later seen flirting with 24-year-old NFL star Odell Beckham Jr.

She was rumoured to be dating the New York Giants player in 2015 but it seems she caught his eye again in her revealing Coachella outfit.

Keeping Up With The Kids

THE Kardashians are the undisputed bosses of reality TV – and now the youngest members are joining the family business.

North West, three, her 14-month-old brother Saint and their famous cousins are set to star in their very own spin-off version of Keeping Up With The Kardashians.

The show will follow the children of Kim, 36, Kourtney, 38, and Rob Kardashian, 30, and give an insight into their privileged lives growing up in LA.

A source close to the family said: "This has been in the pipeline since North was born, but now Rob's baby Dream has come along, it has opened up the storylines, making it more feasible. It's controversial move but Kris is convinced they can pull it off."

Keeley cover-up horror!

By JESS GALLEY
jess@sundaysport.co.uk

THE Durrells* star Keeley Hawes has ruled out going NUDE on screen ever again.

Keeley has ditched her clothes on several occasions throughout her career and flashed the flesh in the likes of Karaoke and Sex & Lies.

And she even stripped off for steamy girl-on-girl romp scenes with co-star Rachael Stirling in BBC drama Tipping the Velvet in 2002.

But the 41-year-old actress said her days of peeling off for the cameras are over now that she's in her 40s.

Mum-of-three Keeley said: "I'm never going nude again.

"Never, ever, ever.

Boobs

"For me, for the kids, for my husband – not that he cares about all that – and for the viewer.

"I think I've just gone past the stage where it's doable, because now it would be 'That's what a 41-year-old's boobs really look like?'

"And there'd be comparisons with things I did in my 20s, which I don't really need in my life."

Keeley, who is married to actor Matthew Macfadyen, also revealed her hubby earns more than her despite doing the same job.

The Line of Duty star said: "I know what men are being paid because I'm married to one who is on the same level as I am in TV land – and there is still a disparity.

"Big enough that you have to fight. To hold out."

Cheryl's dentist scammed clients to buy ski chalet

A HARLEY Street dentist, whose clients include pop babe Cheryl (above), stole £1MILLION from his clients to pay for a posh ski chalet.

Dr Tapesh Anand siphoned off money from his rich patients to help pay for the £8m plush six-bedroom pad in the French Alps.

The 43-year-old persuaded dozens of wealthy customers to pay thousands of pounds in cash up front for his ground-breaking treatment.

But in May 2013 his Q Clinic, on London's Harley Street, went into administration, leaving many patients out of pocket and still in need of treatment.

An investigation revealed that Dr Anand owed £120,000 in taxes, £120,000 to patients and £180,000 to suppliers.

He was also more than £830,000 in debt – but investigators were unable to seize the lodge to repay the costs as it was purchased privately.

Dr Anand was disqualified as a company director for seven years following the investigation.

ESSEX babe Ferne McCann revealed she is planning to swap reality telly for a university EDUCATION.

Ferne, who shot to fame on ITVBe's The Only Way is Essex, admitted she wants to put her career on hold to bag herself an art degree.

The 26-year-old This Morning presenter even compared herself to Beauty and the Beast star Emma Watson, who took a career break to graduate from Brown University.

Ferne (left) said: "My next thing is I want to get a degree in art.

"I see myself a bit like Emma Watson. She did the Harry Potter thing and then she went back to school – and that's what I'd like to do."

Ferne also revealed she sees herself marrying current squeeze Arthur Collins.

She said: "I definitely think Arthur is the one."

Ellie TAYLOR

By BECCA STUBBS
becca@sundaysport.co.uk

TANTALISING Ellie Taylor loves being blindfolded and handcuffed in the bedroom.

The kinky stunna reckons it maximises the pleasure from her shagging session.

Ellie, 19, from Milton Keynes, Bucks, also gets hot and horny when she's cuffed, as it leaves her totally in her man's control.

Touch

She said: "Being blindfolded is amazing. I love not knowing what's going to happen next or where he's going to touch me.

"It doubles the fun when I'm handcuffed as well – the pleasure is at the next level when my fella's in complete control of my body.

"I also like wearing matching underwear – red and black sets are my favourite as they look so sexy when any girl puts them on – hot sex is guaranteed!"

Ice-T's secret to great sex

JUNGLE ANTICS: Ice-T and Coco

By BECCA STUBBS becca@sundaysport.co.uk

RAPPER Ice-T says he and his wife Coco Austin enjoy kinky JUNGLE style SEX sessions.

The 59-year-old believes the key to their long-lasting relationship is to accommodate each other's kinks in the bedroom.

He reckons if they indulge in each other's fantasies things escalate to 'another level' – and their shagging sessions often take a bizarre turn.

Foreplay

The actor even admitted to having a sex session with 38-year-old glamour model Coco while wearing ICE SKATES and being coated in OIL.

Ice-T said: "There's regular sex and then there's jungle sex. You can be with your wife and just roll over on it. That's just sex sex.

"Jungle sex is when you know what it is that gets you turned on and you build up to it. You're taking foreplay a step further.

"Your girl might want you to put on some motherfking oil and figure skates for her. 'What the fk?' Just put it on and I will fk the shit out of you.

"If you're willing to accommodate the other one's kinks, you're gonna take that sex to another level. So that's jungle sex."

Law & Order: Special Victims Unit star Ice-T has been married to curvy pin-up Coco for 15 years.

Ad ban for Cara and her mascara

A RIMMEL mascara ad featuring the model Cara Delevingne has been banned for using production techniques that exaggerated the effect of the make-up.

The television advert showed several images of Delevingne (above) applying the mascara and close-ups of the finished effect, while a voiceover said: "New max-density brush for clump free lashes. Extreme volume … Extreme wear."

But the Advertising Standards Authority (ASA) said consumers were likely to understand from the ad that using the mascara would lead to the appearance of thicker and fuller eyelashes.

Champ Ant: I can't even score a fight!

BRITISH heavyweight boxer Anthony Joshua says he has no idea how the scoring in a bout works.

Ahead of his world title clash with Wladimir Klitschko at Wembley Stadium next weekend, 27-year-old IBF king Joshua says he doesn't even know the rules.

Hard-hitting Joshua boasts a record of 18 professional wins by knockout and hasn't had to go through the scoring process.

And he claimed: "I don't even know how to score a fight!

"That's why I go for the knockout. You may write about it, but you don't have to understand the whole thing."

Joshua is one of sport's most humble stars and still lives with his mum in Golders Green, North London.

The former bricklayer shot to fame when he won super-heavyweight gold for Team GB at the London 2012 Olympics.

Now he's ready for his biggest challenge against 41-year-old Ukrainian Klitschko.

He was covered in blood and clutching his groin.

A woman who had been taking the drug with Canfield said: "He seemed quite calm as he began cutting.

When investigators studied CCTV footage, they spotted Canfield throwing his genitals at an alligator in a canal that runs behind his house in Florida.

"There's no chance of recovering them," stated an investigator.

BILLY: I WAS TOO DRUNK TO BE A SHAGGER!

By BECCA STUBBS
becca@sundaysport.co.uk

COMEDIAN Billy Connolly has confessed to enjoying loads of nights with "floozies" in his heyday.

The Glaswegian funnyman burst onto the comedy circuit in 1975 and the enjoys reliving his memories.

Billy, 74, boasted of his nights with single girls after wowing fans with his jokes and charisma on the stages across the UK.

When asked whether there were a lot of girls, he said: "Millions. It was lovely, smashing. Men lie to themselves with consummate ease.

"I always remember the floozies as great fun. Although I was drunk most of the time so I don't think I was a great lover."

However, his raunchy nights were cut short when he met his wife Pamela Stephenson, 67, on the set of Not The Nine O'Clock News in 1979.

They married 10 years later and now reside in Florida but it hasn't always been plain sailing for their relationship.

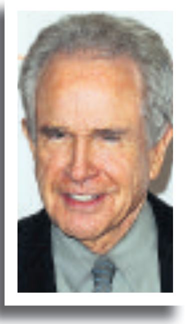
Billy said: "She's the real thing. It was good for me in so many ways. It was time to change what I was or go down with the ship and she helped me by spotting I was in trouble."

And it's Pamela who's stuck by Billy through his illness – he was told he had Parkinson's disease three years ago.

Despite his illness, he credits his wife and his comedy with keeping him on track and said: "A sense of humour is absolutely essential. It's the only thing that gets you through."

A special ITV show was aired on Tuesday highlighting the best moments of Billy's five decade career.

...but Warren admits: I've had 13,000 women!



HOLLYWOOD star Warren Beatty has confirmed he slept with 13,000 women during his career.

When quizzed about the outrageous stories surrounding his life Warren, 80, denied them all – except sleeping with thousands of women.

When asked on The Graham Norton Show if the rumour was true that he'd slept with 13,000 girls,a smiling Warren joked: "That was a busy month! You'd have to live a long time to do that."

The bonking claim was made by his biographer Peter Biskind and, at the time, Warren suggested it wasn't logistically possible.

However, he admitted his reputation as a ladies man "came with the territory".

Explaining why he was reluctant to make movies for 15 years, compared his return to vomiting.

He said: "I have sometimes compared it to vomiting. I don't like to vomit and I rarely vomit.

"But something builds up, you think about it for a long time, you try to avoid it but finally you think you will feel better if you just go ahead and throw up."

I'VE got a whole week off this week guys, as I worked non-stop over the Easter weekend!

I was working extra hard to keep you all entertained on Studio 66 TV and now my body is completely worn out!

Don't worry fellas, I might not be on telly until next Wednesday but you can still see me completely naked on webcam by visiting www.harddrive.xxx.

Linsey Dawn McKenzie

SHE'S BRITAIN'S ONLY TOPLESS COLUMNIST

I HAVE nothing but respect for Prince Harry after he opened up this week about his struggle to come to terms with the death of his mother, Princess Diana.

After losing my own mum three years ago, I know how hard it can be to deal with such a huge loss.

I am still coming to terms with the fact that I will never see my mum again and I can understand why it took him so long to open up about it.

Grief can hit you at any time and it's so good for people in Prince Harry's position to be able to admit that they've seen counsellors and got some help.

His decision to speak out will help so many people who maybe don't know where to turn.

I also think that by speaking out so candidly, it just goes to show how modern this new generation of royals are compared to older generations.

The Queen has always been quite old-fashioned and kept quiet about personal matters.

But William, Kate and Harry (right) are so much more relatable and know how important it is to appeal to the people.

If it was up to me, I would convince Prince Charles to give up his claim and crown William as King as soon as possible.

Trump's a right Twit!

WHEN is somebody going to take Donald Trump's Twitter account away from him?!

You would think that the President of the United States would have people to advise him on things like social media so that he doesn't make any slip-ups.

But the man just lacks any class and diplomacy. I dread to think what will happen if he keeps posting reckless tweets.

The way he is going, goading North Korea from behind his keyboard, he is going to land himself in hot water!

And we will probably be dragged down with him.

If a reality star or celebrity started making a fool of themselves on social media, or said something out of line, their representatives would jump in to take control and handle the situation.

So why has no one in the White House reigned in Trump yet?!

MY old friend Lee Ryan is making his debut on EastEnders this week – and I couldn't be happier for him!

I have known Lee for years and he is such a lovely guy. He really deserves this break and I hope it helps the public to see a different side to him.

He's had a lot of stick in the press over the years, but he is a great actor and I think he'll blow everyone away on the show.

I'm not usually a fan of EastEnders but I will definitely be tuning in to see Lee's first episode in Albert Square!

DNA HAVE ME HOOKED ON BGT

BRITAIN'S Got Talent returned at the weekend and I have a feeling this is going to be a good year!

I always love watching the audition stages to see all the embarrassing acts that don't make it through to the finals.

I actually prefer the bad ones to the good ones! And the judges all have good banter between themselves too.

It's too early to call a winner, but I was amazed by illusionists DNA (left). They were absolutely incredible and had me hooked straight away.

When they came out and said they could read people's minds, I thought 'yeah, whatever', but by the end of their act I was totally sucked in.

And I have no idea how they managed to change their T-shirts without anyone noticing!

They're my favourites so far, but I'm looking forward to seeing what else Simon has up his sleeve.

AMANDA: I WANT TO GO DOWN ...ON THE FARM!

By BECCA STUBBS
becca@sundaysport.co.uk

BRITAIN'S Got Talent* judge Amanda Holden has her eye on a new career... as a character in The Archers.

The 46-year-old stunna craves a role on the popular BBC Radio 4 drama series.

And Amanda admitted she's in constant contact with the radio soap, begging to be cast on the show.

Ambition

Not content with her successful career on TV and in the theatre, she revealed her ultimate ambition is to land a part at Bridge Farm.

She said: "I've performed at the Royal Variety, but I still keep saying I want to be in The Archers.

"I've never done radio, it's the only medium I haven't covered, and I wish The Archers would get in touch with me.

"Every year I say I want to be in it, but they never call."

The rural radio soap has featured many celebrity guest appearances – including Sir Terry Wogan, Dame Edna Everage, Dame Judi Dench and even Princess Margaret.

Although Amanda is currently in her ninth year on the Britain's Got Talent judging panel, she still harbours hopes for her radio debut.

But she also admitted she'd be a 'fool' to pack in her job on the nation's hit talent show, which began its 11th series on ITV last weekend.

Halsey's see-PHEW top!

AMERICAN singer-songwriter Halsey might be new to the charts, but she certainly knows how to turn heads.

The 22-year-old New Americana singer flashed her nips in this sexy see-through bikini as she partied at Coachella Festival over the weekend while cheekily sticking her tongue out for the camera.

KELLY OSBOURNE'S GAY SHOCKER!

Ozzy's girl – 'Never say never'

ROCK royalty offspring Kelly Osbourne reckons everyone is GAY – including her.

The reality star 'came out' as bisexual and revealed she would never rule out dating another woman.

But while Ozzy's daughter, 32, has yet to experience her first lesbian love affair, she also claimed she believes that we are all actually homosexual.

Kelly said: "You know my honest opinion? Everybody's gay.

"You can't put a gender on love, I'm open to loving anybody.

"My whole rule is never say never.

"I've never been in a relationship with a woman, but I don't know that not it's a possibility."

Flings

However Kelly also slammed young female celebs who come out as gay and have public girl-on-girl flings before claiming it was just 'a phase'.

And while she didn't name any names, the likes of Miley Cyrus, Kristen Stewart and Lindsay Lohan have all dabbled in same-sex relationships as well as dating blokes.

She said: "There's this whole generation of young Hollywood girls who can't find love where they think it's supposed to be.

"Then they come out being gay and two weeks later they have a boyfriend.

"It drives me nuts. I think it takes all the proactive work the LGBT community has done and sets them back.

"You don't get to do that."

Jason kept 007 dad in the dark

BOND legend Sean Connery's son kept his dream of becoming an actor a SECRET from his parents.

Jason Connery, 54, admitted he was too scared to tell his famous father he wanted to follow in his footsteps when he started acting as a child.

Instead the Robin of Sherwood star (above) kept his early aspirations hidden from Sean and his actress mother Diane Cilento until he bagged a place at drama school.

Jason said: "I was very aware of who dad was. I felt very much like I had to defend myself or I had to say, 'I'm not just his son, I'm not just riding on his coat-tails.'

"I was frightened to tell my parents. I did some acting at school.

"Then I got into the Bristol drama school and, of course, I had to tell them.

"My dad basically said, 'Look the thing about acting is, it's a tough profession.

"If you really don't want to do it, you'll find out soon'."

DNA plan for a Jurassic Jesus

SCIENTISTS are close to creating a Jurassic Park Jesus Christ by tracking down his DNA from some of the most famous religious relics.

Los Angeles pastor Jo Basile teamed up with Oxford University geneticist George Busy for a History Channel special on the DNA of Christ.

The men travelled with a crew from Spain to Italy and on to Israel, looking at some of the world's most famous holy relics.

They included the shroud of Turin and the bones of Jesus's cousin, John the Baptist.

And the experts used the latest DNA technology to identify a strand of DNA that they believe belongs to Jesus Christ.

Now experts say if it is Jesus's DNA, they could clone him and bring him back to life.

Emily

SHAW

By JESS GALLEY
jess@sundaysport.co.uk

GORGEOUS glamour girl Emily Shaw is glad that Spring is finally here as she loves BONKING outdoors.

The top-heavy stunna told us the best shag she's ever had was in the great outdoors when she did the dirty with her fella on a family camping weekend.

Rumbled

Emily, 24, from Ascot, Berks, who boasts a palm-stretching pair of 30FFs, had to keep her moans to a minimum so they wouldn't be rumbled as she and her man knocked boots in the open air.

She said: "One sex session that really sticks in my mind was during a camping trip in a field.

"It just felt so primitive!

"I was on a camping weekend with my fella's family, so we had to keep really quiet, which was incredibly difficult, but it was the most fun sex ever!"

Brooke Riley says...

> TWENTY in one night might be a bit much but I've had 12 in one session before – my man just kept going down on me over and over again. I repaid the favour though – he had seven!

Brea Bennett says...

> ONLY two blokes have ever made me cum and that was during a threesome. But I don't mind, I know exactly how to get myself off with my stash of toys and my own magic fingers.

Come again? multiple orgasms on the rise

By BECCA STUBBS
becca@sundaysport.co.uk

MORE women than ever are achieving multiple orgasms these days with most hitting the Big-O at least twice in the same session.

An all-new sex study has revealed that a whopping seven out of 10 women have experienced multiple climaxes during their romps.

The average British woman cums twice during a shagging session with their partners, the study found – but the research also revealed high numbers of females are getting even more satisfaction.

Clitoris

Some eight per cent of women climax more than 10 times while on the job with two per cent having a whopping 20 orgasms in just one night.

The new poll surveyed 1,250 women between the ages of 20 and 24 and most claimed they had between one and four orgasms when they did the dirty deed.

But the study turned up a bit of advice for fellas to take on board – 80 per cent of women simply can't achieve full satisfaction in bed without clitoral stimulation.

Sexual health expert Dr Christine Webber reckons ogling grumble vids is to blame for many men not knowing exactly how to make their woman get off.

She said that porn, romantic fiction and films left many blokes believing that women relied on penetration to cum, but that's not the case.

She said: "As a result, a lot of women think there's something wrong with them if they do not orgasm during intercourse.

"For most, the clitoris is the key to sexual pleasure. So if you have a sexual partner, do make sure you communicate what feels good for you."

Dr Webber and her study co-author Dr David Delvin circulated their poll through sexual health charities and women's groups.

Cum

Their results found that although many women have achieved an orgasm, there are still quite a few who have never cum through intercourse.

They also found that 12 per cent of women can experience pain when they orgasm, a condition which is called dysorgasmia.

But the overall trend is that the number of orgasms among women is on the rise.

To find out just how true this survey is, we quizzed three Sport stunnas on how many O's they've had in one session...

Beth Daniels says...

> I'M so horny all the time, I need to have at least two orgasms a day. I either have to get a shag or get busy myself, but a real cock is always better than a plastic one!

MIDWEEK Sport SEX FORUM

Welsh know how to pleasure a woman!

By JESS GALLEY
jess@sundaysport.co.uk

WHEN it comes to making women climax, men in one part of the country are apparently more clueless than the rest.

Around a third of male lovers in the East Midlands admit they have no idea what they're doing when it comes to getting their partners off.

But it's not all bad news for women as fellas in Wales came out as the most confident with almost 80 per cent saying they're totally cocksure.

The research was carried out by condom manufacturer Durex who quizzed more than 2,000 across the UK on what makes them tick between the sheets.

Orgasm

The findings revealed a so-called 'orgasm gap' where women are climaxing less than their male other halves.

And shockingly it all comes down to knowledge, as 27 per cent of blokes asked said they don't know how to get their lover to the Big-O, compared to just 22 per cent of unsure women.

The result also showed a geographical divide as around 30 per cent of blokes from the East Midlands said they're not sure how to make their lover climax.

Sexpert Alix Fox said: "The stats show that for many couples, the key to hitting the Big-O is performing a very special trick with their mouths... talking!

"If you'd like your lover to become more skilled at bringing you sexual pleasure, the best thing you can do is have an open, honest conversation with them about what types of touches, tools and techniques really work for you, and which ones don't."

Chemistry

We asked Sport scorcher Britney Andrews what she makes of the research and whether she's ever been let down in the sack by a clueless bloke.

The glamour babe, 27, from Brighton, said: "Oh God, I've definitely been with a few blokes over the years who haven't had a clue what they were doing.

"I can't say I've ever noticed it being down to where they're from though. Sometimes it's just down to chemistry – and every girl is different at the end of the day.

"What works for one girl might have no effect on another so I don't think guys should be so hard on themselves.

"As long as they're willing to give it their all and are open to trying new things then it's all good!"

‘He took me from behind – I got mud all over my knees’

MY SEX FANTASY ...WITH PENNY LEE

THE sun is out and that means only one thing for filthy Penny Lee – AL FRESCO bonking.

By BECCA STUBBS
becca@sundaysport.co.uk

The blonde stunna has revealed she once got down and dirty in a London park in broad daylight.

We could only dream of catching a glimpse of the 25-year-old’s all-natural 32E boobs bouncing as she rides a fella behind a bush.

Horny

The Worthing babe said: “I once did it in St James’s Park in London.

“I was there walking with my fella and we were feeling horny, so we just hopped in a bush and got down to it.

“It was really good – fast and frantic. He took me from behind and I got mud all over my hands and knees.

“Literally, just after we had finished and pulled our pants up, a couple of policemen walked past, so we were really lucky not to have got caught.

“We were both covered in mud as well. We got a few funny looks on the train home.”

Penny boasts mind-blowing oral skills – and she doesn’t mean her conversation.

She gushed: “I love doing it! I know some girls say it just to get guys going, but I really do.

“It’s the best thing in the world. I’m not sharing the secret of how I give head though. That’s just for me... and any fella lucky enough to land in my bed!”

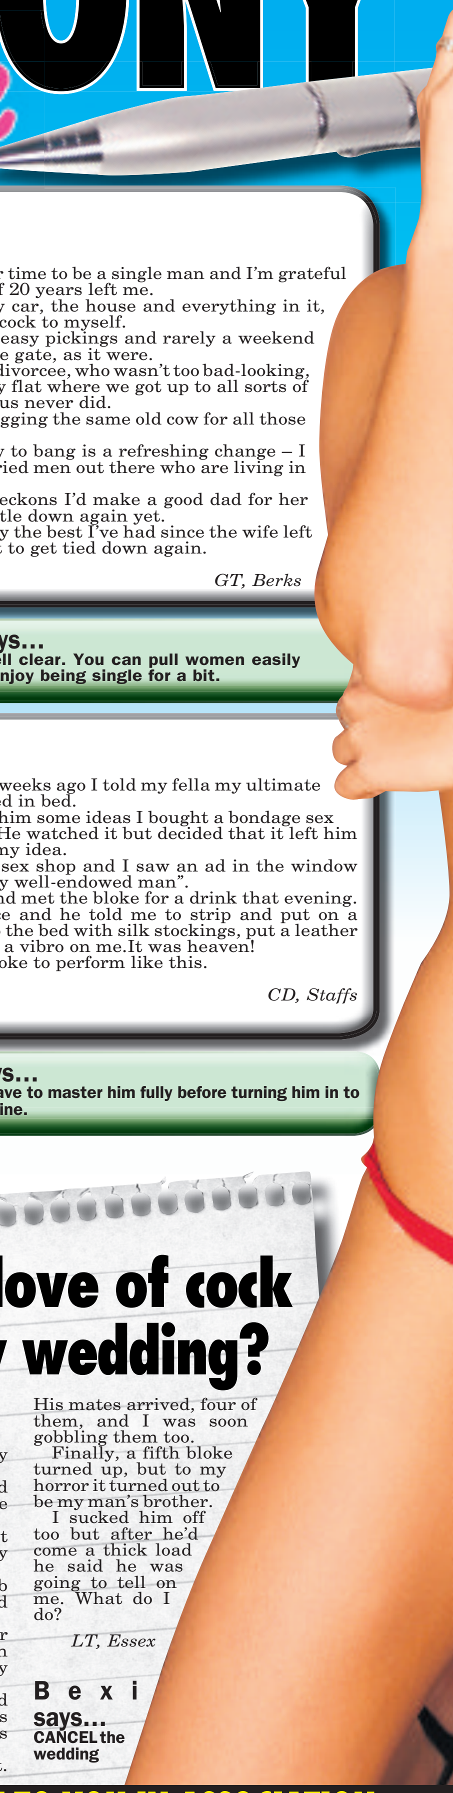
THE WORLD FAMOUS AGONY Page



Dear Bexi,

THERE'S never been a better time to be a single man and I'm grateful for every day that my wife of 20 years left me.

She also took the kids, my car, the house and everything in it, but at least I've still got my cock to myself.

The ladies these days are easy pickings and rarely a weekend goes by without me oiling the gate, as it were.

Last week I picked up this divorcee, who wasn't too bad-looking, and I brought her back to my flat where we got up to all sorts of things that me and the missus never did.

To be honest with you, shagging the same old cow for all those years got to be a real chore.

So having some new pussy to bang is a refreshing change – I recommend it to all the married men out there who are living in a loveless marriage.

Anyway, this latest bird reckons I'd make a good dad for her kids but I'm not ready to settle down again yet.

She's a quality fk – easily the best I've had since the wife left me – but I'm not sure I want to get tied down again.

What should I do?

GT, Berks

Bexi says...

STEER well clear. You can pull women easily enough. Enjoy being single for a bit.

Dear Bexi,

I'M in my late 20s and a few weeks ago I told my fella my ultimate sex fantasy – to be dominated in bed.

He was up for it so to give him some ideas I bought a bondage sex DVD advertised in a paper. He watched it but decided that it left him feeling rather cold towards my idea.

Next day I was passing a sex shop and I saw an ad in the window for a "slave wanted for a very well-endowed man".

I took down the number and met the bloke for a drink that evening.

We went back to his place and he told me to strip and put on a slave-girl toga. He tied me to the bed with silk stockings, put a leather mask over my face and used a vibro on me.It was heaven!

I'm desperate to get my bloke to perform like this.

Any ideas?

CD, Staffs

Bexi says...

YOU may have to master him fully before turning him in to a sex-machine.

Could my love of cock cost me my wedding?

Dear Bexi,

I'M in a bit of hot water over my addiction to sucking willies.

I'm a 24-year-old blonde and my fiancé is a real hunk – we were due to get married in June.

The problem is, I simply just can't get enough sausage in my mouth.

The other day I went to the pub with a few of my workmates and a hunky fella caught my eye.

I followed him to a quiet corner and to cut a long story short, soon had his stiff cock out and into my mouth. It was long and thick.

I played with his bellend and teased and licked it with my lips and tongue and he soon shot his load, making me orgasm, too.

But that was not the end of it. His mates arrived, four of them, and I was soon gobbling them too.

Finally, a fifth bloke turned up, but to my horror it turned out to be my man's brother.

I sucked him off too but after he'd come a thick load he said he was going to tell on me. What do I do?

LT, Essex

Bexi says...

Subject:

I loved girl licking me but I'm not a lesbian

Dear Bexi,

ME and my best friend have been pals for a good 14 years.

But I never knew she fancied women until we ended up having sex together a couple of weeks ago.

It happened after my boyfriend dumped me and I went round to my friend's for some sympathy.

As soon as she answered the door I burst into tears and she sat me on the sofa.

She got out the vodka and we spent the next hour drinking and talking about what bastards men are as I sobbed my heart out.

At one point I told her that I felt ugly and fat but she told me not to be so silly.

She said she thought I was gorgeous and I was astonished and then totally shocked when she tilted my head towards hers and kissed me.

As her tongue snaked between my teeth I tasted her feminine scent and I relaxed into the most exciting caress I'd ever known.

My head was spinning as she pulled away saying that we would be more comfortable together in the bedroom.

We slowly stripped each other down to our undies.

She was wearing some lovely black underwear and I had on a white cotton vest and panties.

Then she gently slipped her fingers inside my panties. She knew exactly how to turn me on and used her hands and mouth to tease my burning flesh.

My friend pushed me back on the bed and buried her head between my thighs.

Juices

It was so different to the way any man had given me oral before and I reached my first orgasm in just a few short but pleasurable minutes.

When she kissed me again and I tasted my own juices on her mouth I felt the overwhelming need to go down on her.

It seemed strange at first but I must have been doing it right because she soon started to shudder as she reached orgasm.

Afterwards I was exhausted but so satisfied and we went to sleep in each other's arms.

The next morning I woke up before my friend and felt a bit embarrassed and left quickly.

I don't want a lesbian affair and I haven't spoken to her since.

Now I'm wondering if we can still be such good friends after our intimate romp.

What do you think?

SR, East Sussex

Bexi says...

YOU should tell her that she caught you at a vulnerable moment and that you just want to stay good pals. If she is any kind of understanding pal she will respect your decision and feelings and back off a bit.

Mr Right's starting to feel a bit wrong

Dear Bexi,

I'M a 26-year-old girl who loves sex.

I know what I want and I don't mess around getting it.

Just give me a wild night's dancing in a club, with a few drinks, and I'm ready for it with any good-looking fella around.

Recently I met someone who could be Mr Right and I'm facing a dilemma.

It began, as usual, with me having a few drinks with a my girlfriends in a wine bar. I was on my third vodka when he walked in.

He's a shade over six feet tall with an athletic physique, short spiky hair, a tanned complexion and a smile to melt your knickers off.

I wasted no time in giving him the eye but he seemed to be ignoring me, much to my annoyance.

So when he went off to the gents I followed him in and dragged him into an empty cubicle.

I unbuttoned his shirt to reveal his bronze torso and bent to lick his nipples while slipping my hand in his flies.

Without a word, he pulled up my dress and caressed me for a while before making me stand with my back to the door.

He pushed his huge cock deep into me and began humping me hard against the door.

Even with all my vast experience, I can say it was the best shag I've ever had and we were both screaming with pleasure by the end of it.

Since then we have been dating on and off – always finishing at his or mine.

I love his company and he is great fun but the sex has never been as good as that first time.

Should I stay with him or go back to my one-night stands?

SF, Teesside

Bexi says...

TRY recreating that first wild night with him.

AGONY QUICKIES

Dear Bexi,

I'M 18 and have a very embarrassing problem – I only have a small penis.

I am still a virgin because when I had the chance to whip it out for a girl she just laughed and ridiculed me.

It's only five-and-a-half inches long and I get really down at the thought that I'm not up to ever satisfying a woman – not to mention not getting any nookie.

What should I do?

HW, Isle of Man

Bexi says...

STOP worrying. You are average-sized and still growing until you're 21. Any girl who laughs at you isn't worth bothering with.

Dear Bexi,

MY problem is that I've got a bloody huge penis.

On the bonk it's five-and-a-half inches and frankly I'm scared to show it to girls in case they faint, or something.

What'll I do?

MP, Leeds

Bexi says...

DON'T worry, I assure you they won't faint!

SHOW ME THE HONEY!

WELCOME to the interactive Midweek Sport – where YOU get to choose the stunnas appearing on these pages!

That's right fellas, we publish sexy snaps of the babes you most want to see – TOPLESS or even NAKED.

Every Wednesday, Show Me The Honey features the cute curves of the glamour girls you're clamouring for. This service – UNIQUE to British newspapers – is totally FREE!

All you have to do is drop us an email to request@sundaysport.co.uk telling us why you want to see your favourite girl, then sit back and let us do the rest.

LYNSEY ATKINSON

CABBIE Tony Parker did things the old fashioned way and put pen to paper to request this snap of 34DD stunna Lynsey Atkinson.

Tony reckons that Essex babe Lynsey, 34, is overlooked as one of the fittest boobs-out models.

The 49-year-old, from Brighton, said: "Lynsey has that devilish look in her eye that makes me think she'd run rings around me in the bedroom.

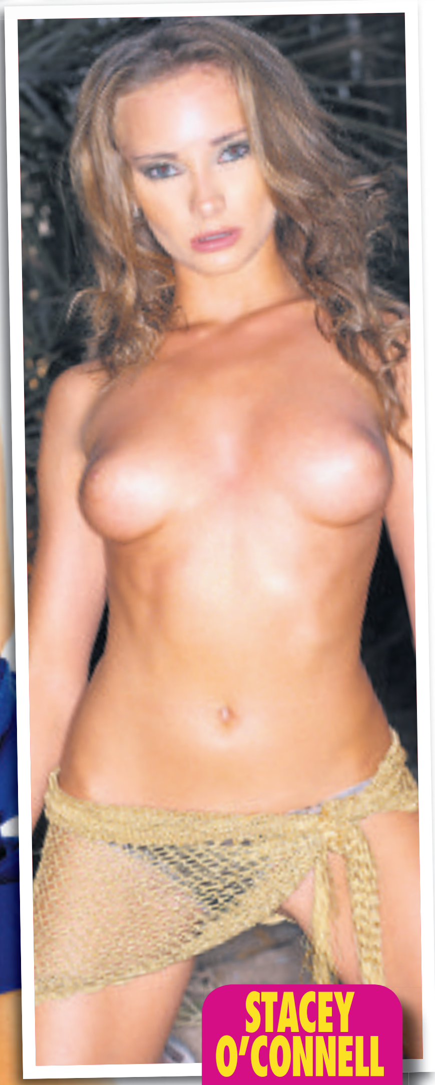
"She is a gorgeous girl and has a cracking pair!"

MICHELLE MARSH

GLAMOUR legend Michelle Marsh was the pick of Geordie lad Simon Thornton, who thinks it's been far too long since he last saw her in the Midweek Sport.

Amateur referee Simon, 32, said Michelle's 32FF bosoms were the reason he started buying the paper and he always hopes for a glimpse of them.

Well Simon, we hope this saucy snap of Oldham scorcher Michelle, 31, helps keep you fit!



STACEY O'CONNELL

PRESTON plumber Shaun McDermott asked for the "sexiest photo we could find" of 29-year-old Stacey O'Connell, from Barnstead.

Shaun, 36, said: "Me and the lads always chip in to buy Midweek Sport to read on our brew breaks, but we haven't seen that Stacey O'Connell in the paper for years!

"Could you whack a picture of her in soon for us please?"

No probs, Shaun.

RIO? GRAND!

HERE'S your chance put the horror of the World Cup behind you in favour of some real Rio talent!

Suck Like A Brazillian may sound like the college course you wish your other half would sign up for but this amazing DVD is a celebration of the art of the BJ as performed by dusky South American lovelies.

It's from the house of Private so you know the girls, the studs and the production values are going to be tiptop but it's the technique on show here that sets it apart.

These girls, led by the stunning Sandy Rio, could get wood from a dead man.

It's generally thought that football is the national sport in Brazil but after sitting through almost three hours of this stunning collection I'm going to suggest that they could also take of the the world at c sucking!

We'd love to show you grabs but can't find any without a happy penis front and centre!

SPEARMINT RHINO GENTLEMEN'S CLUBS

SPEARMINT RHINO BABE OF THE WEEK

Kay LEIGH

ADRENALINE junkie Kay Leigh says that her perfect date would be something that SCARES her.

By JESS GALLEY jess@sundaysport.co.uk

The saucy stunna told us she is on the hunt for her very own Mr Right and said she isn't interested in immature 'lads' who think they're the dog's bollocks.

Londoner Kay, 23, is looking for a true English gent who knows how to treat a lady – but it isn't all romance and flowers as she also likes to be challenged on a date and pushed out of her comfort zone.

Intelligent

Pert Kay stripped off and bared her 34B norks for this steamy topless shoot in honour of being named our Spearmint Rhino Girl of the Week.

She told us: "My ideal man would be someone who has got their shit together and knows what they're doing in life.

"He needs to be intelligent – and handsome too!

"I haven't got time for cliché 'lads' who think they're something they're not.

"Who wants a lad when they could have a gentleman instead?!

"My perfect date would be action packed, mixed with some romance.

"So if he bought me flowers but then took me paint-balling or rock climbing, that would be right up my street!"

Spearmint Rhino has a number of gentlemen's clubs around the world which boast the most beautiful dancers.

But if you can't make it to one of the venues, you can find Spearmint Rhino girls at boxing and Mixed Martial Arts (MMA) fights around the country, or at the British Superbike Rounds.

THE BOOKIE BASHER

LET MICK LIVESEY PUT YOU ON TO A SPORTS BETTING WINNER!

SUAREZ TO FIRE BARCA HOME

DANGER: Luis Suarez and Lionel Messi

WE had another good weekend, not the full sweep, but Lukaku/Everton combination won and City eased to victory against Southampton in the top flight.

The call I'm most proud of came in the Championship, Blackburn Rovers to beat Nottingham Forest at 12/5. A few of the keyboard pundits thought I'd lost the plot, but it was us that headed off to the bookmakers to be paid out, enough said!

The NAP of the Midweek action is Barcelona with a twist. Regular readers will remember I tipped them up at a whopping 10/1 to qualify for the last round when they needed to overhaul a four-goal deficit against Paris.

I'm not sure they will march to the semi-final here, but they will win this game.

Luis Enrique's side have won all 15 home games in this competition under him, overall they are unbeaten in 20, a record that dates back to September 2013.

Qualify

Juventus are a different animal to Paris, the Italian giants have steel and they will not just rollover and die. Let's not forget that Juve won on their last visit to the Nou Camp, 2-1 after extra-time.

Barca will need everything to go right, an early goal would certainly help proceedings. At a best price of 9/2 for Barcelona to qualify, it just does not look value.

This is a far stiffer task than they faced when trailing PSG 4-0, they may have romped to a 6-1 victory, but this looks tougher.

There is a still an angle for us to make the wages though. Luis Suarez can bite the bookies for us, get on Suarez to score and Barcelona to win at 11/10. I f you wanted another option, look at Barcelona to score three or more goals at 11/8. The NAP though is the Suarez and Barcelona combination.

UNITED TOO STRONG

★ United had Spurs fans jumping with joy on Sunday, they eased to victory against Chelsea and perhaps the tide is now turning for Mourinho and his men.

Are we witnessing a resurgent Man United? It's difficult to tell, they've buckled under the weight of expectation at times this season, but on Sunday they looked a top four side at worst.

The trouble is they may have left it too late to finish in a Champions League qualifying position through the league, they are four points behind their noisy neighbours City who occupy fourth.

Their best chance of returning to dine out at the top table next year is to win the Europa League. I will be amazed if that flame is extinguished tomorrow in front of their home fans against Anderlecht.

CLASS ACT: Ibrahimovic

The tie is evenly poised at 1-1, but Utd have the advantage of that precious away goal and their confidence must be sky high after the Chelsea game. They are now unbeaten in 22 Premier League matches, their best run in a single season since they went unbeaten in 24 during the 2010/11 season.

Interestingly Ibrahimovic was dropped to the bench for the Chelsea win or more likely he was rested for this match and the Swedish Maverick can once more be the hero.

I like the look of Ibrahimovic to score and Utd to win at 8/11. I must admit though I'm tempted by the 9/4 on offer for Zlatan to score two or more goals in this match.

OTHER PUNTS

★ One the games of the season took place when Borussia Dortmund hosted Monaco. Dortmund went down 3-2 and I'm struggling to make a case for the Germans in this return leg.

Monaco are grossly underestimated in Europe, but ask any Man City fan and they will tell you just how dangerous they are. I'm inclined to jump on the 21/11 about a Monaco victory. They stand every chance of progressing in style.

Celta Vigo struggled at times to gain the upper hand against Genk. They eventually ran out 3-2 winners, but I fancy them to bag an away victory here.

Genk have no choice, they have to open up and attack. This will surely be their undoing and Celta Vigo can deliver them a sucker punch on the counter.

17/10 looks a fair price to me and I will be disappointed if the Spaniards do not deliver.

Last but by no means least take Schalke to beat Ajax at home. The Germans look a cracking punt at 10/11.

THE WINNING POST

Have a Dab on Gosden

By BEN MORGAN

JOHN Gosden always has a strong crop of three-year-old fillies and this year looks no different.

He had the choice between DABAN and Dabyah for the Nell Gwyn who are both under the same ownership and it may be telling that the former has been sent to Newmarket today.

Judging by her run at Kempton last year she could well be a filly out of the top drawer as the way she sluiced through the field on debut was mightily impressive.

I will be amazed if she goes off at her current price of 14/1 but if she does it is a gift and I advise everyone has a few quid each way on her.

The 1,000 Guineas is wide open this year and providing she does the business today she could take a bit beating come May 7.

It could be a good day for Gosden whose SEVEN HEAVENS could tear the field apart in the European Free handicap at 2.25.

The Frankel colt looked a world beater in his first two runs last year and ran far too free on his final start and Frankie consequently gave him an easy time after that.

He has no doubt matured well over the winter and should progress this season. I suggest this could be his final run in a handicap as his breeding suggests he can go right to the top.

You often have to be a group horse to win a big handicap these days and BRAVERY may prove to be just that today. His win in the Lincoln was impressive given that Danny Tudhope cut across the back of the field at the start to get on the right side of the track.

I think he can improve on that run and go in again here for a trainer who is a master with these sort of horses.

ART MARESQUE looks to have a good chance of getting his head in front at Cheltenham today.

He thrives off good ground and ran a respectable race at the festival on ground that was softer than advertised but has since been freshened up.

He is a sound jumper and although there are some unexposed types lurking down the bottom of the card, I think he can justify his mark and go very close.

Humerus break no joke for top rider Geraghty

HORSE RACING

TOP jumps jockey Barry Geraghty is facing up to three months out after breaking his arm in the Irish Grand National.

Riding for leading owner JP McManus, he had only just come back from six weeks off with a punctured lung and broken ribs which ruled him out of Cheltenham.

He came back to win three big races at the Aintree Grand National festival but he won't ride again this season.

His Irish Grand National mount Minella Foru came down at the eighth fence at Fairyhouse on Easter Monday.

He broke his left arm and will now miss the season-ending Punchestown Festival.

Geraghty said: "I've broken my left humerus and will have it plated. I'd expect to be off for 10 to 12 weeks."

There was better news for Flat jockey Hollie Doyle who was involved in a horror fall at Redcar on Monday.

Her mount Champagne Queen clipped heels and came down at high speed.

She needed lengthy treatment on the track and was carried off on a spinal board.

Doyle was taken to hospital in nearby Middlesbrough but was released yesterday.

Her agent Guy Jewell said: "She's been discharged and has suffered no lasting damage.

"I wouldn't know when she'd be back riding, but she hit the ground hard so she'll just want to get home and have a few days off I imagine.

"Hopefully she'll be back soon."

Quins legend Evans hangs up his boots

RUGBY UNION

HARLEQUINS club record points scorer Nick Evans is retiring at the end of this season.

The 36-year-old has been at the club for nine years and has made more than 200 appearances.

He has scored more than 2,200 points, which is the club record. Evans has picked up a league title win and a European Challenge Cup.

The 16-times capped All Black said: "I thought leaving New Zealand was hard, but leaving the game I've played since I was eight years old — and professionally for 17 years — is tough.

"But when you know, you know.

"This game has taught me everything, showed me things I could never imagine and introduced me to people that are not team-mates, but family.

"I need to thank the clubs I have represented, the coaches who have helped shape the player I am today, and the fans, both in New Zealand where it all started, and here in the UK, for their support.

"I couldn't think of a better shirt and place to finish my career at than Harlequins, I want to thank the club and fans for making myself and my family feel welcome."

Quins rugby director John Kingston added: "The word 'legendary' is really over-used within the modern sporting world, but in the case of Nick Evans and his rugby playing career at Quins, it is the perfect description.

"From the moment he arrived in the summer of 2008, he has been at the forefront of taking the club to heights never experienced before."

VETERAN GAFFER IS BACK FOR

FIREFIGHTER: Redknapp has three games at Birmingham

HARRY Redknapp says money couldn't be further from his mind as he takes over at Birmingham City.

By JOHN ANTHONY

He told the struggling Blues that he wanted NOTHING to take the helm at St Andrew's.

The 70-year-old has been out of football since February 2015 but jumped at the chance to succeed Gianfranco Zola.

The Italian resigned after steering the Brummies to the brink of League One.

Now Harry has three games to keep Blues — who are three points above the drop zone — in the Championship.

He said: "I got a phone call last night from the people at Birmingham.

"I drove to London, had a meeting for ten to 15 minutes, sat down and said 'yeah, sure I will come and do it, no problem'. I got home and my wife said: 'are you mad!'

"Birmingham is a proper club. It is a good club. They are in a precarious position — we are only three points above the relegation zone and we have got the worst goal difference as well.

"I've gone in there and said, 'listen, I don't want nothing, I will come and do it'. The money I am not interested in.

"I get fed up sitting around doing nothing. It gets me out the house!

"It is a real challenge. I will come and live up here until the end of the season and throw myself into it.

"If I can keep them up then we can sit down and talk about going forward."

And Redknapp's first game couldn't be any bigger — away at deadly rivals Aston Villa.

Then comes a tough clash with top-six side Huddersfield before Bristol City on the final day.

Challenge

Redknapp will bring former Robins boss Steve Cotterill as his assistant.

He added: "They are three tough games.

"It is not going to be easy but it is a challenge and I look forward to it.

"Steve Cotterill is going to come in with me. How he is not in work managing I don't

HARRY HOUDINI DOING IT FOR FREE

He tells Birmingham he'll keep them up for nothing know. He is one of the top coaches I have worked with in my career.

"We will give it everything we have got it, we will throw ourselves into it, and hopefully we will get the win or whatever we need to stay up.

"They have won 2 games out of 22. I ain't got a magic wand. I ain't going to go in there and they are suddenly going to turn into Real Madrid.

"If I can get them going and get a bit of belief back in and pick up a win or whatever we need to stay up, that's all I can do."

Zola's tenure at Birmingham has been nothing short of a disaster. The club owners got rid of a successful boss in Gary Rowett in December but the Italian managed just two wins in 24 games.

Zola was sad as he called time at St Andrew's. He said: "I am sorry because I came here with huge expectations.

Sorry

"There were a lot of expectations from the people at the club and from myself, but unfortunately results have not been good and I take full responsibility for that.

"I've been the first one to be disappointed about the results is me so I have decided to do this.

"It's not that I like quitting but I feel like the club deserves the best chance.

"At the moment it feels I can't help these players if I stay. I think this club deserves my respect because of all the support they have given me, and if I feel I can't help the team it's better that I leave someone else to do that.

"I feel very bad and very sorry. We worked a lot and with a lot of good meaning but unfortunately it didn't produce the results. It's very disappointing."

UP AGAIN: Knockaert

Opportunity Knocks for second time

ANTHONY Knockaert cannot wait for his second crack at the Premier League.

The Frenchman has been one of Brighton's key men in their promotion from the Championship for the first time in 34 years.

Knockaert has scored 15 times this season as he scooped the division's player of the year.

He was part of Leicester side that went up three years ago but only made three appearances in the Premier League before the Foxes shipped him out.

Now the 25-year-old wants to make the most of his second chance.

He said: "It's amazing and a great feeling.

"When you're a child, you dream about this.

"We're going to be there next season and we'll enjoy it.

Stuttering

"What a day for everyone at this football club. If anyone deserves it, it's this football club. I'm so buzzing for them."

It has been a long road back to the top flight for Knockaert who moved to Standard Liege in Belgium before Albion boss Chris Hughton brought him to the Amex.

Brighton missed out in the play-offs last season but look set to go up as champions thanks to Newcastle's stuttering form.

Knockaert believes the Albion fans — who have gone through a lot since 1983, including losing their historic Goldstone Ground — deserve some success.

There was a good old-fashioned pitch invasion after Brighton's 2-1 win over Wigan on Easter Monday that sealed the deal.

He said: "I was buzzing and all the fans were coming up to me.

"It was a long way to the dressing room and it was a really nice feeling and everyone was over the moon.

"It was an ambition and challenge for me, and they told me straight away that it was the club's ambition to reach the Premier League.

"It was amazing and all of the people involved in this football club deserve it."

Now Knockaert wants the title, adding: "It would be amazing for us, we're one win away and we'll try everything to do it on Friday, and if not Friday, we'll try and do it against Bristol City at home."

CHELSEA DEFIANT IN TITLE BATTLE

WE'LL BOUNCE BACK

United defeat the jolt we needed says Cahill

GARY Cahill believes the defeat at Manchester United is just the kick up the arse Chelsea needed.

The Blues were humbled at Old Trafford after a poor display saw them go down 2-0. On top of their shock home defeat against Crystal Palace, it has got the wheels wobbling on their title push.

Tottenham have closed to four points and there's talk of the biggest choke since Newcastle blew a huge lead in 1996. That's fair enough considering the Bridge boys were 13 points clear just a month ago.

By ANDY MILLOM

But Cahill is adamant that Chelsea will walk off with the Premier League and FA Cup double come the season's end.

He thinks the Old Trafford defeat has brought the squad together — and made them all the more determined to see the job through.

Cahill blasted: "That defeat has given us all a kick up the backside. We know the League is not over, that it will be difficult, but we know we are more than capable of doing it.

"I certainly think we can win our last six League games.

"We just need to come back from this now. We need to lean on the experience we have in the dressing room and the players that have been through all this before.

"We can't let things get too twisted, after all we lost at Old Trafford which is a very tough place to go to.

"The most disappointing thing is we didn't play to the levels we are used too or the levels we expect. It can happen.

"But that is why we were so angry in the dressing room afterwards.

"It is important we respond this week. We have to show the same response we did after losing to Crystal Palace, when we beat Manchester City and Bournemouth."

MAD HATTER: Conte

Positive

The one thing Cahill will not be doing is panicking. He insists that Chelsea just have to keep their cool and start picking up the points they need.

He added: "There are two aspects to the current situation and what we do.

"The first is a positive: we are still in a great position and have six games left to play.

"The negative is no one will give us this league title.

"We are not going to get the trophy just because we have done well for the majority of the season. It doesn't work like that.

"We have six games left and have to earn the right to win it. No one is going to roll over.

"We need to work hard in training and go again. But we must also remember we are still in a strong position."

SPIRIT: Cahill and Diego Costa

JT THE GREATEST SAYS LAMPS

By PAUL THOMAS

FRANK Lampard has hailed John Terry as the best defender in Premier League history.

The Chelsea captain will leave the club at the end of this season.

The 36-year-old has been overlooked by new boss Antonio Conte despite the Blues playing three centre-backs.

Terry looks destined for a move to China or America — but he hasn't ruled out playing for another Premier League side.

There's no doubt that his old team-mate Lampard believes he could still do a job.

He said: "He's the last man standing of an incredible era for Chelsea. What a pleasure to play with the greatest defender in Premier League history. In fact, I would put him up with any defender in world football of any era.

"Whatever you do next I know everyone will respect your decision and I know that the Chels will always be your club. Absolute respect.

"He led the club both on and off the pitch from the moment he made his debut.

"He set standards for everyone, whether it was demanding excellence in training, fighting for every win or respecting how fortunate we were to play for such a great club.

"He is a legend, not just for his talent but just as much for his desire to get the best out of himself and others."

Terry has clocked up 713 appearances for Chelsea since making his debut in 1998.

He won four league titles along with a Champions League, five FA Cups, three League Cups and a Europa League.

Terry is working to get his coaching badges and is expected to return to Stamford Bridge on that side once he hangs up his boots. West Brom boss Tony Pulis has made no secret of his wish to sign the former England skipper for one last season in the Premier League.

But only a move abroad would would bring in one more massive pay day.

Lampard said about JT playing for another English team: "I know whatever he does, unless he signs for Tottenham, he'll be a legend!

"He wouldn't do that but he needs to make his decision now whether that is play in the Premier League, go abroad, go into management. It's his decision and I think every Chelsea fan will respect that."

TOP TEAM: Lampard and Terry

LONG VIEW: Klopp

Klopp: Liverpool could be last club

JURGEN Klopp says he could retire at Liverpool — if the club wants him to stay that long.

The German admits that he would like to have won some silverware during his first 18 months in charge at Anfield.

He turns 50 this summer and has five seasons left on his current deal.

But he is already talking about doubling that deal — once he has started to win some trophies.

Klopp said: "I will not have been in charge of ten different clubs once my managerial career is over.

"There is a not insignificant chance I will have coached three clubs. I would say it is very unlikely I will become a club-hopper all of a sudden.

"On the contrary, it is always quite easy for me to fully commit to what I am doing because they are often long-term projects.

"If I fulfil my contract with Liverpool then there is a good chance I will have won something here.

"I could be in an uncomfortable situation if we do not win anything.

"People expect Liverpool to win trophies."

It doesn't look as though Lucas Leiva will be retiring at Liverpool.

Decade

The Brazilian midfielder has become a bit-part player under Klopp.

That said, he has been pivotal in some big wins this term — not least at West Brom on Sunday.

The 30-year-old has been at Anfield for a decade and is about to open talks on a potential new contract.

But he admits that his time could be up on Merseyside.

Lucas said: "I don't really know what will happen. I just need to focus on the last five games. The last few games I have played I feel very good.

"I have played centre-back and midfield, so I give some options to the manager and when he needs me I always try to deliver.

"Sometimes it works, sometimes it doesn't, but that happens with everyone.

"So there is no doubt about my commitment to Liverpool. I just need to wait until the end of the season, work hard and make a decision together with the club."

JUVENTUS TOUGH NUTS TO CRACK

HARD TO BEAT: Juve manager Massilmiliano Allegri

Barca need their very best

BARCELONA face Juventus in the Camp Nou looking to become the first team to overturn a 3-0 first-leg defeat in the history of the Champions League knockout stages.

That said, no side had ever comeback from a 4-0 first leg defeat until the last round and Barcelona's amazing 6-1 success over PSG.

Can lightning strike twice? BetVictor make the Catalan giants 9/2 to qualify and 8/15 to beat the Old Lady of Italian football in 90 minutes.

Barca need big games from their superstars and Lionel Messi is 31/10 to open the scoring and 12/5 to find the back of the evergreen Gianluigi Buffon's net at some stage.

Strongest

If Juve score then Barca need to hit five – the recommendation is for Barcelona to win and both teams to score which is 8/5 at BetVictor.

It promises to be a wonderful game but the Italians will need Dutch referee Bjorn Kuipers to be at his strongest.

Juve coach Massimiliano Allegri suggested in his pre-match interview that Juventus could win everything this season, and he believes they are currently the best team in Europe.

Ahead of last night's second leg ties Juve were 3/1 second favourites to lift the Trophy in Cardiff in June behind 2/1 Real Madrid with Barcelona 16/1.

In the other tie Borussia Dortmund are 5/4 to win in Monaco yet 5/2 to qualify for the last four.

They too are trying to do what no other side in the history of the competition have done and overturn a 3-2 defeat from the home leg.

Monaco only had two shots on target in Germany yet scored three times with Sven Bender putting through his own net.

Dortmund have now lost eight of their last 11 knockout games in the Champions League but they are the top scorers in the competition (27 goals in nine games) and as good as Monoco are going forward they do have their defensive deficiencies.

Both teams to score is 3/10 but the recommendation must be for Dortmund to win and both teams to score at 11/5 at BetVictor.

Manchester United go into tomorrow's second leg tie with Anderlecht as the 6/5 favourites to lift the Trophy in Stockholm next month having scored a precious away goal in Belgium.

Jose Mourinho's side were quite outstanding against Chelsea on Sunday and they are 2/9 to finish the job at Old Trafford.

★ Some wonderful racing under both codes with the ITV cameras at both Newmarket and Cheltenham.

In the Group 3 Nell Gwynn Stakes Andre Fabre brings PAMPLEMOUSSE (3.35) over for her turf debut and the filly could not have been more impressive when winning on her polytrack debut at Chantilly albeit in a race restricted to unraced horses.

The filly went off 6/5 and never appeared to come out of a canter.

She holds no fancy entries but she could be supplemented for the Guineas if she comes out of today's race with her unbeaten record intact.

At Cheltenham STARCHITECT (2.40) didn't appear to quite get home over an extended three miles at Aintree last time and he has been dropped 2lb in the handicap for that run.

He has run with credit at both the Cheltenham and Aintree Festivals and if over those exertions must go close in the valuable Silver Trophy.

At 3/1 with BetVictor he has a favourite's chance with Foxtail Hill likely to tow them along at a good clip.

DOING FINE (3.50) can race from the same mark as when runner up at Wincanton last time and today's longer trip should suit the Neil Mulholland-trained nine-year-old.

He certainly deserves to get his head in front having finished runner up in all three starts since moving to his current stable.

POWER OF THREE: Koscielny was one of a defensive trio

Three is NOT magic number for Wenger

GUNNERS boss Arsene Wenger will turn his back on three defenders — despite its success last time out.

The Frenchman broke the habit of two decades by playing a trio of centre-backs against Middlesbrough on Monday night.

That tactical switch brought about a 2-1 win that keeps Arsenal in the top four race. Wenger was happy with the way the game went — but won't be sticking with the new set-up.

BORO BOOST: Wenger

He said: "It gave a bit of reassurance and that's what we need at the moment.

"I just felt that sometimes the team needs to believe in something new, something different, just to find a bit of confidence back.

"Overall I felt that it worked quite well today because we won the game.

"We had practiced on it before at some stage but we like offensive football so this was a bit more defensive-minded for us.

Pressure

"I feel overall it is not a long-term plan, but punctually it can work."

Wenger hopes the confidence boost from winning at the Riverside will give his players heart going into their FA Cup semi-final against Man City at the weekend.

He added: "It helps to get lighter heads and get the pressure off our shoulders.

"To know that we can win again away from home is important because traditionally we are a team who has made good results away from home."

Manchester City had a timely boost of their own at the weekend with a win over Southampton.

Vincent Kompany scored against the Saints and boss Pep Guardiola is hopeful that the skipper's injury problems are behind him.

If he plays against Arsenal it would be only the second time in more than a year he's started two games on the bounce.

He said: "Hopefully Kompany can be fit, we are going to see.

"We are going to see how they played against us two weeks ago, what he can do, to make something new and to suppress him a little bit and of course to achieve the final."

Iniesta prays for another Nou miracle

Barcelona v Juventus

Wednesday, 7.45pm, live on BT Sport 2

ANDRES Iniesta believes Barcelona have to play the game of their lives to turn around their 3-0 deficit with Juventus.

A Paulo Dybala double and a Giorgio Chiellini strike did the damage in the first leg.

The Catalans have already come back from the dead once in this season's Champions League — overturning a 4-0 first-leg deficit against Paris St Germain.

But Iniesta thinks it will take an even bigger effort than that famous 6-1 win to get past the Italians tonight.

He said: "There are a lot of similarities compared to the game against PSG.

"We need to have the same attitude right from the first minute.

"It will be complicated to pull off another comeback, but I am sure it is possible. We have to play a perfect game.

"We have to create the maximum number of chances and score goals. We probably need our best game of the season.

"An early goal would be a boost, but we have to be patient. We cannot afford to lose patience if the goal does not come.

"I think Juventus have only conceded two or three goals this Champions League. But this does not change anything for us.

"We know that we have the potential to score goals. I am convinced they know we can hurt them.

"The first leg was a bad result for us. We did not do the things we had to do.

"It is a complicated task, but we have the players to turn things around. We need a perfect match."

Juventus striker Gonzalo Higuain is taking nothing for granted.

He said: "I don't know whether our 3-0 lead will be enough. We have to come out fighting at Camp Nou and play like we did in the first leg in Turin.

"Barcelona showed against PSG that they're capable of producing miracles, so we have to be on our toes.

"They'll be wary of us too though."

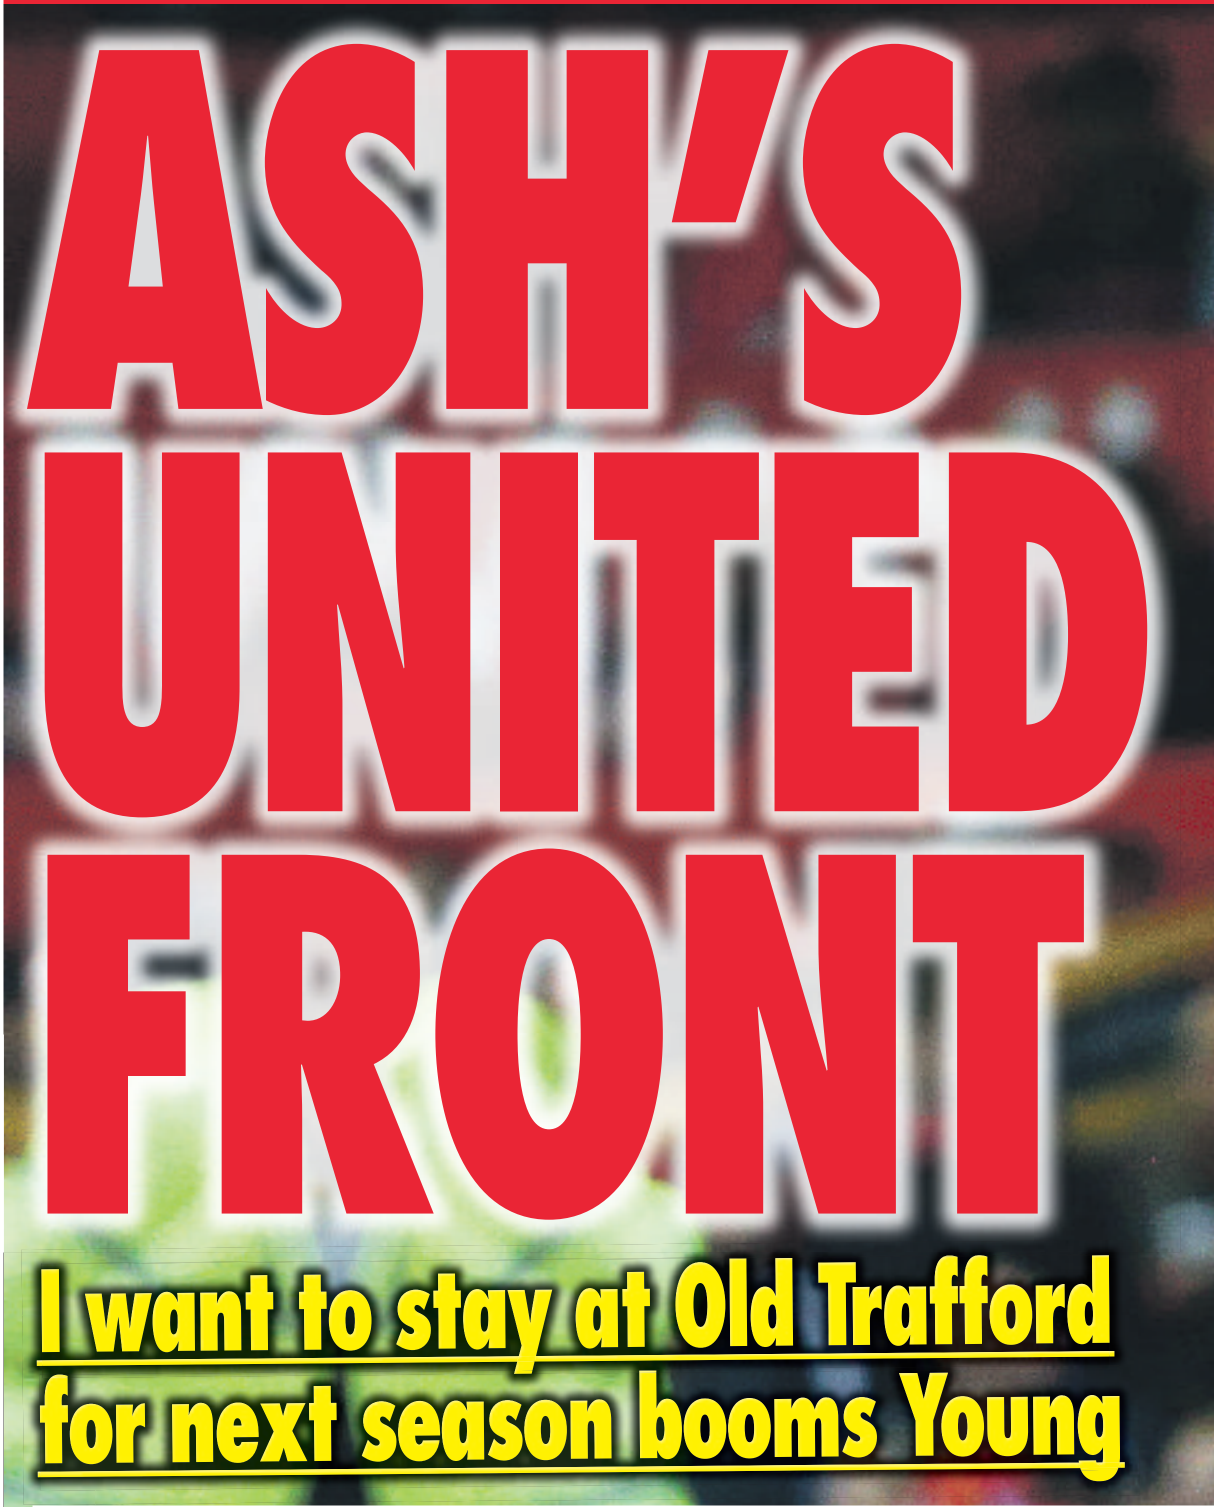
EUROPA LEAGUE SHOWDOWN:



ASH'S UNITED FRONT

I want to stay at Old Trafford for next season booms Young

ASHLEY Young insists he wants to stay at Manchester United — and playing his part in winning the Europa League could boost his chances.

By PAUL THOMAS

The winger has been in and out of the team since Jose Mourinho took charge last summer.

He has started just 13 games for the Red Devils this term — but most of them have come in the past couple of months.

The former England star was one of United's best performers as they beat Chelsea at the weekend.

Young was a surprise choice to captain the Reds in that key clash. He would love to start against Anderlecht in tomorrow's second leg of the Europa League quarter-final.

The tie is evenly poised at 1-1 and the Red Devils are desperate to make the semis.

That's because the winners of the tournament earn a place in next season's Champions League.

Young hopes to make his case for a long-term future at Old Trafford despite being linked with a big-money move to the Chinese league in January.

He said: "There was of course, and there is always, speculation and especially when there is a transfer window and you are not playing.

"But I have always said that I want to play as much as possible.

"What the future holds I am not too sure.

"I am just concentrating on each game and when the manager calls on me I will give 100 per cent and look to play as well as I can.

Hunger

"I am looking to play as many games as I can between now and the end of the season.

"That is what I am concentrating on now. That is the main focus for me and then we will see what happens.

"I have fire and hunger in my belly. I want to succeed. I work hard for this club and this team.

"When you have such competition in a fantastic squad it pushes you on every day.

"If you watched training there are no challenges that are not like in a game.

"Everybody wants to pull on the shirt and I am no different."

Young made the move to United from Aston Villa in 2011.

The 31-year-old has another 12 months left on his contract — so the Reds will have to sell this summer if they want a fee for him.

But Young insists that the ball is in Mourinho's court about a new deal.

He added: "I have another year left on my contract and an option for another year after that so if there is anything there to be discussed you would have to ask the manager."

Young was surprised to be given the armband against Chelsea at the weekend and hopes it shows that he remains in Mourinho's plans for next season.

Leaders

He said: "I've had the captaincy midway through a game but to actually lead the team out was fantastic for me.

"The main thing was to get the result.

"We've got 11 leaders when we're out there on the pitch, obviously the manager is on the side as well, and when we make changes we have got leaders spread all over the pitch.

"We have to stick together, times are hard, but you have to carry yourself in the right way, in the right manner. When you've got 11 leaders, it helps you all over the pitch."

Ander Herrera was another key man in the win over Chelsea.

As well as scoring and setting up the other United goal, he had Eden Hazard in his back pocket.

The Spaniard is set for a major role against Anderlecht and wants to keep pushing himself to become an Old Trafford regular.

He knows that winning the Europa League and getting into the top four are vital goals this season for United.

Herrera said: "Now we are in the crucial moment.

"Nobody will remember this part of the season if I don't perform well at the end. I am happy, but I am not finished yet.

"I like to demand a lot of myself because I feel I can give more and more and more to the team.

Forward

"I am happy, and I think it is the right attitude. So far it has been OK for me, but I still have to show I can give more.

"I am a team player, I want to give everything for the manager and I don't look back. I just look forward.

"The next month and a half is the most important time of my career.

"I will always be thankful to the manager, but football changes.

"We have great players and Manchester United has the capacity to sign big players so I cannot sleep.

"I have to keep working, performing and giving what the manager wants me to give."

United managed to beat Chelsea without Zlatan Ibrahimovic, who was left on the bench.

Most pundits think that was to keep the big Swede fresh to take on Anderlecht tomorrow.

The Swede had started every other Premier League match he was eligible for, which only underlines how important the match against the Belgians is.

But that would mean moving Marcus Rashford out of the No9 role where he starred against Chelsea.

Mourinho was impressed by the young striker's workrate but is clearly expecting more end product from him.

The Portugeezer said: "He's not scoring enough goals.

Confident

"He's missing a bit and he had an opportunity against Chelsea and he didn't score.

"He looks like he was not very confident but the kid played very well and again, great experience to play well against such a team like Chelsea."

BRAVE: Tuchel

Monte Carlo or bust for Borussia

Monaco v B Dortmund

Wednesday, 7.45, on BT Sport

BORUSSIA Dortmund chairman Hans Watzke says the club is still reeling from the bomb attack on their bus — but hasn't given up hope of beating Monaco.

The Germans trail 3-2 from the first leg, which was played just hours after terrorists hit their bus.

Watzke believes his team pulled off miracles by staying within one goal of Monaco.

He realises it will be tough to turn it around in southern France but the Germans will give it a go.

Watzke said: "We are no dreamers. We know that our chance is slim but it is still there.

"The team has delivered an almost superhuman effort. We can draw strength from that."

Dortmund defender Marc Bartra suffered a broken arm during the bomb attack and the players dedicated Saturday's win over Eintract Frankfurt to him.

Wonderful

Boss Thomas Tuchel hopes to keep that spirit going against Monaco.

He said: "My players have shown an incredible character, already on Wednesday against Monaco and again on Saturday.

"I think it's easier for the players to take their mind off things when they are on the pitch.

"We had a wonderful interaction with our fans whose instinct for such situations is probably second to none."

After what happened in Germany, security has been upped in Monte Carlo.

There will be more than 350 police officers on duty in an around the stadium, while the Dortmund team boss will be surrounded by a ring of steel.

Monaco have injury problems going into the match, with Fabinho ruled out with injury.

With him in the side, the Frenchman have lost just once in 2017 but were spanked 4-1 by PSG when he didn't play.

Former coach Eric Roy thinks he'll be a massive loss, saying: "When he is not there, it makes a huge difference to how Monaco perform.

"Without him, the team becomes a little bit unbalanced and that could give Dortmund more of a chance."

PARIS OR BUST FOR SANCHEZ

Wenger blocks Alexis Prem move

By JOHN ANTHONY

ARSENE Wenger is fighting tooth and nail to stop Alexis Sanchez joining a Premier League club.

The Arsenal boss is still trying to keep the Chile striker at the Emirates — but there seems little chance of that.

Now all Wenger can do is make sure Sanchez signs for Paris St Germain instead of a Premier League rival.

The 28-year-old has had enough of life at misfiring Arsenal. He would jump at the chance of signing for Chelsea or one of the Manchester clubs.

But Wenger sees that as a disaster and is determined to stop it happening.

The Gunners boss is close friends with the PSG owner so a £50million deal between the clubs for Sanchez would suit both parties ideally.

Sanchez — who has scored 22 goals this season — is coming to the final year of his contract and will NOT sign a new deal.
